

8 International women's Day (IWD)

Written by

Sunday, 08 March 2015 00:41 - Last Updated Sunday, 08 March 2015 10:19

International Women's Day (IWD) is celebrated on 8 March every year. It is a day to celebrate the achievements of women and to raise awareness of the issues that affect women's lives. The day was first celebrated in 1911 and has since become an important international event. The United Nations Day for Women's Rights and International Peace is also celebrated on 8 March.

International Women's Day is a day to celebrate the achievements of women and to raise awareness of the issues that affect women's lives. The day was first celebrated in 1911 and has since become an important international event. The United Nations Day for Women's Rights and International Peace is also celebrated on 8 March.

International Women's Day is a day to celebrate the achievements of women and to raise awareness of the issues that affect women's lives. The day was first celebrated in 1911 and has since become an important international event. The United Nations Day for Women's Rights and International Peace is also celebrated on 8 March.

International Women's Day is a day to celebrate the achievements of women and to raise awareness of the issues that affect women's lives. The day was first celebrated in 1911 and has since become an important international event. The United Nations Day for Women's Rights and International Peace is also celebrated on 8 March.

International Women's Day is a day to celebrate the achievements of women and to raise awareness of the issues that affect women's lives. The day was first celebrated in 1911 and has since become an important international event. The United Nations Day for Women's Rights and International Peace is also celebrated on 8 March.

International Women's Day is a day to celebrate the achievements of women and to raise awareness of the issues that affect women's lives. The day was first celebrated in 1911 and has since become an important international event. The United Nations Day for Women's Rights and International Peace is also celebrated on 8 March.

International Women's Day is a day to celebrate the achievements of women and to raise awareness of the issues that affect women's lives. The day was first celebrated in 1911 and has since become an important international event. The United Nations Day for Women's Rights and International Peace is also celebrated on 8 March.

8 International women's Day (IWD)

Written by

Sunday, 08 March 2015 00:41 - Last Updated Sunday, 08 March 2015 10:19

International Women's Day (IWD) is celebrated every year on March 8th. It is a day to recognize the achievements and contributions of women worldwide. The day is also a call to action for gender equality and women's rights.

International Women's Day (IWD) is celebrated every year on March 8th. It is a day to recognize the achievements and contributions of women worldwide. The day is also a call to action for gender equality and women's rights.

International Women's Day (IWD) is celebrated every year on March 8th. It is a day to recognize the achievements and contributions of women worldwide. The day is also a call to action for gender equality and women's rights.