

Egypt doesn't want war with Sudan and Ethiopia: al-Sisi

Written by Administrator

Tuesday, 16 January 2018 16:51 -

January 15, 2018 (CAIRO) - The Egyptian President Abdel-Fattah al-Sisi on Monday said his country isn't conspiring against Sudan and Ethiopia stressing Egypt isn't planning to go to war against its "brothers".

Al-Sisi's statements come amid rising tensions between Egypt on the one hand and Sudan and Ethiopia on the other.

There are several issues between Cairo and Khartoum including Sudan's support to the Ethiopian renaissance dam, border dispute over Halayeb triangle and the ban on Egyptian farming products.

The latest tensions have sparked between Sudan and Egypt after the former signed an agreement to temporarily hand over the Red Sea island of Suakin to Turkey.

On 4 January Sudan summoned its ambassador to Egypt for consultation, hours after the head of the Sudanese Border Technical Committee, Abdallah Al-Sadiq, accused Egypt of trying to drag Sudan into a direct military confrontation over Halayeb.

Egypt doesn't want war with Sudan and Ethiopia: al-Sisi

Written by Administrator

Tuesday, 16 January 2018 16:51 -

To visit the source click on link.